He said Finland had given the "Junko" in making concessions to Russia and could not keep sending troops back and forth to the line. The negotiators already have made three trips to Moscow.

11 KILLED AS BRITISH SHIP SUNK BY MINE

Thousands Stand On Singapore Waterfront and Watch Liner Sink

SINGAPORE, Nov. 13. - The British liner Strathairn, 7445 tons, was sunk by an exploding mine today, killing 11 passengers, mostly children. Nine Asiatics were killed, six missing. The explosion occurred off the Singapore waterfront.

The vessel sank within 15 minutes of the explosion.

Thousands gathered on the waterfront and watched the vessel sink. Nicola, Armenian magician, of Monmouth, Ill., one of the survivors, lost equipment he valued at $100,000. It was not insured.

The Strathairn was registered out of London, and was owned by the British Indian Steam Navigation Company.

PRELIMINARY ENQUIRY

A preliminary enquiry into the cause of the explosion will open tomorrow, it was announced.

First on the scene of the sinking was the third officer of a Japanese vessel. He rowed around, picked up survivors. Other survivors were rescued by Chinese sampans and British Singapore harbor.

British naval launches also joined in the rescue work.

Singapore is the most important British naval base in the Far East and the naval guardian of vast British Empire interests.

There were recently concerns among British and French military and naval officials in the Orient designed to strengthen precautions against possible attack on colonial interests and to increase the Singapore defenses.

At that time, it was announced that the situation was regarded as favorable although the Singapore base was generally regarded as vulnerable.

Additional native troops were moved into the area after the conference and it was understood joint British-French plans for defense had been completed.

KING GEORGE SENDS REPLY TO PEACE PLEA

Britain Will Insist On Repatriation Of Wrongs Done By Germany

LONDON, Nov. 13. - Authoritative quarters reported today that the King's reply to the "Netherland" peace plea was "that the King's reply was 'in no way a repatriation of wrongs done by Germany to her small neighbors.'"

It was also reported that Anglo-Russian trade negotiations have reached the point of exchange of lists of commodities to be sold under an agreement reached.

Britain showed no sign of hope that Germany would seek peace by accepting the conditions laid down in the King's response.

CAUSTIC SPEECH

A caustic speech by Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, a few hours after the King's reply, showed how slender the present chances for peace were considered. Newspapers republished the King's broadly stated aims and called attention to a promise in President Albert Lebrun's answer to Adolf Hitler, he said that Germany would make no peace which would leave the "injustices which force has brought on Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland."

Premier De Geer Attacks "Many Rumors Causing Alarm"

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Nov. 13. - Premier Dirk Jan De Geer told the Netherlands today "there is not a single ground for alarm" in the nation despite "many rumors causing alarm" in the past few days.

Making his first radio speech since his recent prime ministerial last Sunday, De Geer said the fear of imminent danger for The Netherlands was caused by reports circulated abroad and by "certain remarks" of our government.

The belittling remarks, he said, have the darkest expectations about the intentions of the German and think of their own safety. That, De Geer said, they prepare for the worst, suppose that the worst really is at hand and "in good faith" they believe that the situation of our country is likely to be a fatal one.

CERTAIN STATE OF MIND

"Therefore, I advise you to get yourself against this belief of pessimism and remember that neutrality also requires a certain state of mind."

Services which will be rendered in the present conflict include provision of raw materials, wool, etc. for making up soldier's uniforms; German aircraft, building and equipping hospitals in England and France; provision of medical supplies, ambulances, auxiliary services, extra comfort for the soldiers in allied ranks and interest in enemy prison camps; support of international liaison officers; provision of real home, and dealing with emergencies arising from war.

Queen Elizabeth's Message to Empire

ONE CANADIAN IN CASUALTIES OF AIR FORCE

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The air ministry last night issued its ninth list of casualties, suffered on various dates. The list contained 34 names, one of whom was a Canadian, Flight-Lieut. R. C. Lewis of Toronto. Flight-Lieut. Lewis died on being captured.

Two lieutenants have been listed as killed in action, nine as killed on active service, five as missing, eight who died on active service, two previously reported missing and believed killed, now reported killed in action, four previously reported missing and now reported missing and believed killed in action, and four previously reported missing and

You are taking your part in keeping the home front, which will have dangers of its own stable and strong.

It is for all our homes and for their security that we are fighting, and we must see to it that despite all the difficulty of these days our homes do not lose those very qualities which make them the backbone as well as the joy of our lives.

Women of all lands yearn for the day when it will be possible to set about building a new and better world where peace and goodwill shall abide. That day must come. Meantime, to all of you in every corner of the Empire, who are doing such fine work in all our service or who are carrying on at home amidst the trials of these days, I would give a message of hope and encouragement.

We all have a part to play, and I know you will not fail in your remembering always that the greater your courage and devotion, the sooner shall we see again in our midst the happy, ordered life for which we long. Only when we have won through to an enduring peace shall we be free to work unhindered.

We put our trust in God, who is our refuge and strength in all time of trouble. I pray with all my heart that He may bless and guide and keep you always.

Submerged Wreck Sinks Steamship
